

WEST TO REJECT SECOND BULGANIN PLEA

Eden Sees No Value in British Pact with Russia

Prime Minister Holds News Conference Before Leaving U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden declared today that he saw no value in a British-Soviet friendship pact so soon after such a previous treaty "by Russia was torn up."

Eden at a news conference gave a cold reception to a suggestion by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin that Russia was willing to sign separate 20-year friendship pacts with the United States, Britain, France and other countries.

Eden said Bulganin's proposal was "certainly interesting and a little remarkable."

"I am not personally entirely convinced of the value of a new agreement so soon after a treaty signed by Russia was torn up by her," Eden said. Eden's reference was to the British-Soviet non-aggression pact which was cancelled last year by the Soviet Union.

Eden also confirmed that he had proposed during his talks with President Eisenhower this week a "step-by-step relaxation to bring trade with Red China on a par with that of Soviet Russia."

Eden faced nearly 300 reporters from many countries during a farewell news conference at the National Press Club.

He volunteered at the outset of his conference that his meetings with President Eisenhower "did exceed my expectations." The White House talks, he said, disclosed a "very wide measure of agreement."

Eden also touched on these other international subjects: Middle East: Britain is ready to support moves to give the United Nations truce supervisory team in Palestine more guards. There is close agreement between the United States and Britain on the need to discuss ways of "discouraging any aggression" in that region.

Formosa: He declined to spell out what action Britain would take if Formosa and the outlying Pescadore Islands were attacked by Red China.

Soviet Policy: Moscow's main current at the moment is based on "penetration" of other countries by non-military means. The best way to counter the Soviet policy was spelled out in the Eden-Eisenhower "Declaration of Washington" which proposed that living standards be developed everywhere.

Khrushchev-Bulganin Visit: The prime minister said he did not "regard it as a bad thing" to have the two Soviet leaders visit Britain this spring. He said it was only right that "we should talk with those with whom we disagree... There's always a chance, rather remote, that some sparks might come to light a candle which would help us all."

American-Red China talks: The question of a possible meeting between Dulles and Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai was not discussed at the White House meetings.

Disarmament: "Agreement is going to be one of the most difficult problems," between East and West. Any disarmament plan must be based on adequate inspection.

After luncheon with British Commonwealth ambassadors, Eden was scheduled to fly to Ottawa later in the day for talks with Canadian officials before returning to London next week.

75 Forest Fires Burned 1,600 Acres Timber in Month

BENTON, Ill. (AP)—Forest fires in southern Illinois last month burned off three times as much timber as was lost to fires in all of 1955.

State Forester Martin Anderson of Benton said today 75 fires burned 1,600 acres of timber worth more than $12,000.

Anderson said 29 of the 75 fires were caused by burning debris that got out of control and 23 of the fires were incendiary—that is, fires set deliberately.

Smokers caused 10 fires and 10 spread from railroad right-of-ways. Logging operations caused one fire and two were from miscellaneous causes.

State firefighters held most of the fires to 10 acres or less. But Anderson said six fires burned 100 acres or more of timber before being brought under control.

Franklin County was the scene of 30 of the fires reported last month and other fires reported by county were: Hamilton, 13; Wayne, 11; Marion, 9; Williamson, 4; Jefferson, 3; and Saline and Pope, 2 each.

House Committee Approves $3.6 Billion for Treasury, Post Office, Tax Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today approved a $3,618,699,000 money bill to run the Treasury, Post Office and Tax Court in the 12 months starting July 1.

The Democratic-controlled committee ground out the first of a series of appropriations for the new year with a few harsh words for the agencies involved and without substantial reductions.

President Eisenhower had asked for $3,649,872,000 for the three agencies. The cut, as recommended by the appropriations group, was only $31,173,000. The committee in the past frequently has

Hint Bombers Now Fly With Atomic Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force threw out an apparent hint today that bombers now fly armed with atomic bombs ready to retaliate immediately against the homeland of an enemy attacking this country.

It also disclosed that interceptors guarding American cities soon will be armed with new-type nuclear weapons for use against invading bombers.

The Air Force high command said the danger to the American civilian population of accidental nuclear explosions in the air or on the ground is "essentially nonexistent."

Discussing "the weapons carried in aircraft," Gen. Nathan F. Twining told a jet age conference of 1,000 government, military and civil aviation leaders that "instant readiness means survival."

The air chief of staff said "it is only common sense that whatever weapons our Air Force uses must be readily available." He said the air arm has been in "the nuclear bomb business" for more than 10 years and has developed safety features making the chance of accidental detonations "so remote as to be incalculable."

Plan New Weapons "Handling and carrying ordnance from bullets to A-bombs... is not and will not be a major problem" in safety, Twining said.

Twining spoke at a conference called by the Air Force Assn. to study noise, hazards, traffic control and airport problems in the jet age.

Gen. Earle E. Partridge, chief of the Continental Air Defense Command, revealed the plan to equip interceptors that strike a nuclear bomber with atomic weapons. He said the time was "not far off" when the planes would be so armed.

Partridge, who heads a joint Air Force-Army-Navy command, said that new weapons for attacking invading bombers will make present-day rockets "midgets in comparison."

"The day is not far off when we shall have atomic weapons at the various stations storage and on the planes in flight," Partridge said.

Receives Master's Degree at U. of I.

Ted Lane of Urbana, formerly of Harrisburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Lane, graduated Sunday afternoon with his master's degree in Education at the University of Illinois.

Mr. Lane received his bachelor degree at Southern Illinois university and is a full time instructor in the Instructor Training department at Chanute Field. He has held this position for the past five years and attended high school at the U. of I.

Mr. Lane is married to the former Halene Reiner and they have two children. They are members of the Urbana First Southern Baptist church and Mr. Lane was ordained as a deacon in this church a short time ago.

made, or least claimed, much bigger savings.

The Post Office Department gets the bulk of the money—2,973,900,000 as against three billion dollars sought by Mr. Eisenhower, a reduction of 26 million dollars. The committee noted that the department will wind up the new year 470 million dollars in the red, and said postal rates should be raised to make up the loss.

"Some action must be taken to get postal rates more appropriate to the costs of the services," the group said in its report to the House. It described present rates as "woefully inadequate."

The committee failed to suggest where the proposed rate boosts should be applied. President Eisenhower has said first class rates, among others, should be increased. His request has been cold-shouldered by Congress.

Treasury would get $648,507,000, all but $5,073,000 of what the President asked. The Tax Court of the United States got $1,365,000, as requested.

The committee delivered two of the few mild rebukes in its report to the Internal Revenue Service, which will get 305 million dollars or almost half of the Treasury's total.

Members expressed "grave concern" at recent cases in which boxer Joe Louis and others have turned up with big tax payments long overdue. Louis, the committee was told, owes the government one million dollars.

Jury Acquits Hughes of Two Perjury Counts

NEW YORK (AP)—A Federal Court jury acquitted Paul H. Hughes early today on two counts of perjury that charged he lied before a grand jury about the activities of prominent Democrats.

The jury could not reach a decision on four other perjury counts against Hughes, but the prosecutor said the government would not ask for a retrial.

Hughes admitted that he fabricated a story he told the Democratic officials about being a disgruntled investigator for Sen. Joseph McCarthy. He said after hearing the verdict that he would apologize for "any trouble and embarrassment I have caused."

Hughes, a 36-year-old Air Force veteran, said most of his tales about illegal activities on the part of the McCarthy investigating subcommittee were false but maintained he told the grand jury the truth.

He was acquitted of a charge that he lied in saying he heard attorney Telford Taylor and Joseph L. Rauh, national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, discussing plans to aid recanting anti-Communist Harvey Matusow.

The other count on which Hughes was acquitted charged that he lied when he told the grand jury that he once heard Rauh and Alfred Friendly, managing editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald, discussing "coordination" between Matusow and James Wechsler, editor of the New York Post.

10 Carrier Mills Men Shareholders in Prospecting Group

Several Carrier Mills residents are shareholders in Southern Illinois Natural Resources, Inc., a prospecting group that apparently has struck it rich in uranium prospecting.

Kenneth Hart, Carrier Mills news agency owner, stated today that he and nine other Carrier Mills men had shares in the group. There are two hundred shares, Hart said.

Seven of the men are presently living in Carrier Mills—Mr. Hart, Ferrell Lewis, Charley VanMeter, Veryl VanMeter, Melvin VanMeter, Delmar Nunn and Quentin Richey. Three others were residents of Carrier Mills but now are working away from home. They are Hudson Stone, Simon Boulds and Jerry Stone.

A recent report indicated a rich uranium strike for the group in Utah.

Conditional 'Yes' May Be Given by Ike

Report Stems from Statement by President's Physician

WASHINGTON (AP)—A report floated in Republican circles today that President Eisenhower might give a conditional "yes" to the second term question this month without ruling out a retirement announcement later.

The idea was described by a Republican leader, who would not vouch for its possibility but said it had come to him from the "inner circle" of the administration.

Assuming a favorable report from his doctors in mid-February, the plan would have Mr. Eisenhower saying that he expected to run again. But he could also say that he might pull out later if his work indicated that four more years in the White House would be too burdensome for a man who suffered a heart attack last fall.

This possible course seemed to be in line with a statement Thursday by Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, the President's physician. He said Mr. Eisenhower should have "all the time he needs" to make a second term decision.

But the idea did not seem to jibe with Mr. Eisenhower's news conference remark last week that he hoped he would not have to "dilly dally" too long in making a decision.

Although the President's next medical checkup is scheduled in about 10 days, Snyder said no one "who is just 4 1/2 months past a heart attack is in a position yet to determine his own physical fitness."

"It takes longer," Snyder said. "He should have more time—all the time he needs."

He also said the doctors could give the President a "good expectation" about his condition but that Mr. Eisenhower would have to make his own decision.

Hollywood Mourns Deaths of Burns, Charley Grapewin

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Show business today mourned the deaths of comedian Bob Burns and actor Charley Grapewin, who both owed much of their success to hillbilly characterizations.

Grapewin, famed for his portrayal of Jester Lester in "To Be or Not to Be" and Grandpa Joad in "The Grapes of Wrath," died Thursday at his Corona, Calif., home, about 50 miles from here. He was 86. Death was caused by complications resulting from old age.

Hours earlier, Burns, 64, basketball-playing Arkansas comedian, died in West Valley Community Hospital of cancer. He had been in declining health for the past three years since undergoing surgery that failed to help overcome the malignancy in his kidney.

Funeral services for Burns will be held Saturday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Services were pending for Grapewin.

Landlord Refuses To Change Mind After Tragedy

CHICAGO (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gall were to be evicted from their apartment today because they couldn't pay their January rent of $37.50.

Thursday night Gall's wife Betty, 35, took their 4-year-old son James to the hospital to visit their other son, Robert, 14 months old, who is stricken with pneumonia. Another child, Gloria Jean, 6, remained with Gall who is unemployed.

On the way home, James was run over by a city bus as he either slipped or grabbed for the bus door and fell beneath its wheels.

The Galls' landlord, Joseph Ciba, told of the tragedy, said he hadn't changed his mind about the eviction.

"I still got to pay my taxes and I want them out of there," he told a newsman.

Mother of Mrs. Tom Patterson Dies

Word was received this morning of the death of Mrs. George Harrison, mother of Mrs. Tom Patterson. Mrs. Harrison died yesterday in Petersburg, Va.

She had visited in this city with Mrs. Louie Gaskins, sister of Mr. Patterson, and had made her home with Lt. Col. and Mrs. Patterson in Virginia since their return from Europe last June.

The funeral will be Saturday in Virginia.

Proposed Civil Defense Guns for St. Louis Labeled 'Obsolescent'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The 90-millimeter guns proposed for civil defense units in the St. Louis area were described as "obsolescent" by the city's Civil Defense director Thursday night.

Brig. Gen. F. P. Hardaway said the proposed guns were in the hands of troops in late 1942.

"It is my hope that defense officials will be able to replace the obsolescent 90 - millimeter guns with the 'Nike' emplacements which they have in other cities," he said.

The Army announced Thursday its plans to build eight defense centers consisting of four guns in each center. The units would ring the city at distances of from 12 to 16 miles from the heart of downtown St. Louis.

The 90-millimeter guns reportedly would be unable to hit high-flying bombers which the Nike is capable of destroying by rocket propulsion and electronic tracking.

Hardaway said any attack on St. Louis likely would be made from 40,000 feet or higher, or approximately the range of the conventional guns.

"There isn't any question that a potential enemy could pinpoint St. Louis from an altitude of 50,000 feet—if that enemy had sufficient

Son-in-Law of Barkley Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Max O'Rell Truitt, 52, son-in-law of Sen. Alben W. Barkley, died here Thursday following a stroke.

Truitt, who was critically ill with hypertension in 1951, was stricken in his office Monday and died in emergency hospital.

His widow, Marian Barkley Truitt, was official hostess for her father when the Kentucky Democrat was vice president during the Truman administration.

Survivors, besides Mrs. Truitt, are four sons: Cpl. Thomas H. Truitt, now stationed in Germany, who married Barkley's stepdaughter in December; Max O. Truitt Jr., a freshman at Yale University law school; and Alben W. and Stephen McK. Truitt, who reside with their mother. Funeral services will be held here Saturday.

Truitt was a law partner of former Atty. Gen. Homer E. Cummings. He formerly was chief counsel for the Reconstruction Finance Corp., and the Maritime Administration.

Weigh Pennies Or Count Them, the Total is Close

Weigh pennies or count pennies—the total is the same!

A week ago tonight high school students of Saline county participated in a Polio Penny Parade during the annual county basketball tournament. More than 150,000 pennies were contributed to the March of Dimes.

Officials were told the Federal Reserve Bank would accept the pennies by weight, subject to a count at the reserve bank at a later date.

It was determined locally that a sack containing $100 in pennies weighed 67 pounds, 14 ounces, including the sack. All of the more than 150,000 pennies were weighed and a total determined.

Today word was received from Federal Bank officers that the pennies had been counted and the total as furnished by Saline county was just 40 cents short.

Weigh or count—it comes out awfully close!

Truman Still Enraged at Nixon Remark

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Truman said today that whenever he thinks of the fact that Vice President Richard M. Nixon has called him a traitor, "I not only swear, I want to punch somebody."

Nixon is due back Saturday from his journey to Brazil for the inauguration of the new administration there. Who called what in the 1952-54 election campaigns has been disputed ever since. One undisputed fact is that Nixon's campaign speeches enraged Democratic Party leaders, especially the old timers such as Mr. Truman and Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Nixon's friends consistently have maintained that the vice president did not call Mr. Truman or any other Democratic Party leader a traitor. They insist that research of his speech will not discover any such accusation.

Mr. Truman told newsmen during his morning walk that although he had known Nixon in Congress he had refused to see him since Nixon so characterized him.

"I won't see him," he said. "It would just start a fight."

The matter of Nixon was raised when a reporter mentioned that Mr. Truman had used strong language in a radio and television speech Thursday night referring to charges that he and Gen. George C. Marshall were "traitors." He interpolated into his prepared speech the remark that if that were true, "this country is in a hell-of-a-fix."

Mr. Truman was asked by newsmen whether there was a plot to stop Adlai E. Stevenson's drive for the presidential nomination.

"If there is, I don't know anything about it," Mr. Truman said. "I'm not in any conspiracies. I don't work that way."

Thursday night Mr. Truman called for a no-holds-barred political campaign against the foreign policy of the Eisenhower administration during the 1956 election year.

He said the Republicans had made a shambles of bi-partisan foreign policy and were leading the nation toward terrible disaster.

This, Mr. Truman said, left the Democrats no alternative but to attack Eisenhower foreign policy "plainly and bluntly."

The former President spoke at a $100-a-plate fund raising dinner sponsored by the New York Democratic State Committee.

Leaders Will Confer Before Sending Reply

Soviet Premier Seeks Separate Friendship Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France will reject Russia's latest plea for separate 20-year friendship pacts with the three allies, diplomats predicted today.

This was the quick and official reaction to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's second appeal, made in a new 3,000-word letter to President Eisenhower, for a non-aggression pact with this country. Bulganin told the President Russia was willing to sign similar pacts with Britain and France, too.

Mr. Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other Allied leaders will confer on the Bulganin proposal before the American reply is sent to Moscow. But there was every assurance the answer would be a polite "no" patterned after Mr. Eisenhower's previous rejection of the Soviet idea Jan. 28.

Allies Act Together

Diplomats said Britain and France would follow the U. S. lead.

Diplomats recalled that Eden and other western leaders hailed Mr. Eisenhower's earlier rejection of a friendship pact with Russia. The President said then such a pact, in effect, already exists in the United Nations Charter. He called on Russia to prove its friendship by deeds — by agreeing to the reunification of Germany, adopting his "open skies" pre-disarmament plan, taking steps to free Soviet satellites and removing the Iron Curtain.

Russia's offer to sign pacts with Britain and France was something of a surprise. Moscow only last year broke non-aggression pacts with the two nations, charging they had joined "aggressive blocs" in bringing a rearmaged Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty system.

New Propaganda Move

U. S. officials concluded that Bulganin's latest message was another propaganda move. They complained about its "familiar cold war ring" despite some friendly words.

Bulganin told Mr. Eisenhower a U. S.-Russian pact "between the two strongest powers in the world would contribute enormously to a healthier international situation." Then he mentioned the offer to sign similar pacts with Britain and France and threw in the off-rejected proposal for a 26-nation pact between NATO nations and the Communist members of the Warsaw defense organization.

Bulganin also had something to say about the specific deeds of friendship urged on them by Mr. Eisenhower in his earlier letters. But officials said the replies were "negative."

Powell Assured of Plenty Power for Southern Illinois

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—State Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna) said today he has the assurance of Illinois power companies that they will furnish southern Illinois with any electric power it needs for industries which locate in the area.

Powell last week wrote to U. S. Sens. Paul Douglas and Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Kenneth Gray asking them to check possibilities for setting additional power for southern Illinois.

He said he had been told Alexander County recently lost an Olin Industries aluminum plant which was to be located there because of a lack of power.

Powell wrote Douglas, in a letter released today, that he now has been told by power companies that they will supply any power southern Illinois needs for new industry.

"So now with an assurance of sufficient electricity, ample water supply and enough unemployed men and women seeking jobs, the only thing that is needed is industry to provide this employment," Powell wrote.

He said a Central Illinois Public Service Co. official told him the Olin Mathieson Co. was assured by private power companies a power plant would be built if necessary to supply the aluminum plant with electricity.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The place whereon thou standest is holy ground.—Exodus 3:5.

Gen. Ridgway's View

Editorial By Bruce Blossat
Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, one of America's most distinguished soldiers, is telling a story these days that has plunged him into new controversy. It is the story of his conflict with administration leaders over the size and nature of the nation's military ground forces.

Relating his account in a current series in The Saturday Evening Post, Ridgway declares that in his two-year Pentagon tenure as Army Chief of Staff he felt he was being called on to "destroy rather than to build a fighting force on which rested the world's best hope for peace."

In that span, he says, policies were adopted which by next summer will have cut the Army from 1,500,000 to slightly more than one million men. This change has occurred, he adds, despite the addition of some Army responsibilities and the enlargement of others.

The result, in Ridgway's view, is that the United States has a military force which is incapable of fulfilling the many military and diplomatic commitments it has subscribed to around the world.

The general believes this "gulf" between what we may be required to do and the strength we have to do it has been widened for largely budgetary and political considerations.

He asserts that again and again pressure was brought upon him to conform to a preconceived politico-military "party line" fixed by the Secretary of Defense Wilson, other civilian officials and President Eisenhower himself.

He flatly charges that the President's 1954 State of the Union message set forth that the 1955 military program had been "unanimously recommended" by all the Joint Chiefs—including Ridgway—when in fact he opposed it.

The President has felt strongly, of course, that the rule of unanimity should apply to the Joint Chiefs' decisions once they are taken, that their debates over military requirements should be fought out behind closed doors.

But beyond that aspect of the matter, there is clearly much room for argument over the propositions Ridgway has advanced in favor of larger ground forces.

In the first place, there never was a time, except in the thick of total war, when budgetary and political considerations did not heavily affect military appropriations and hence "force levels."

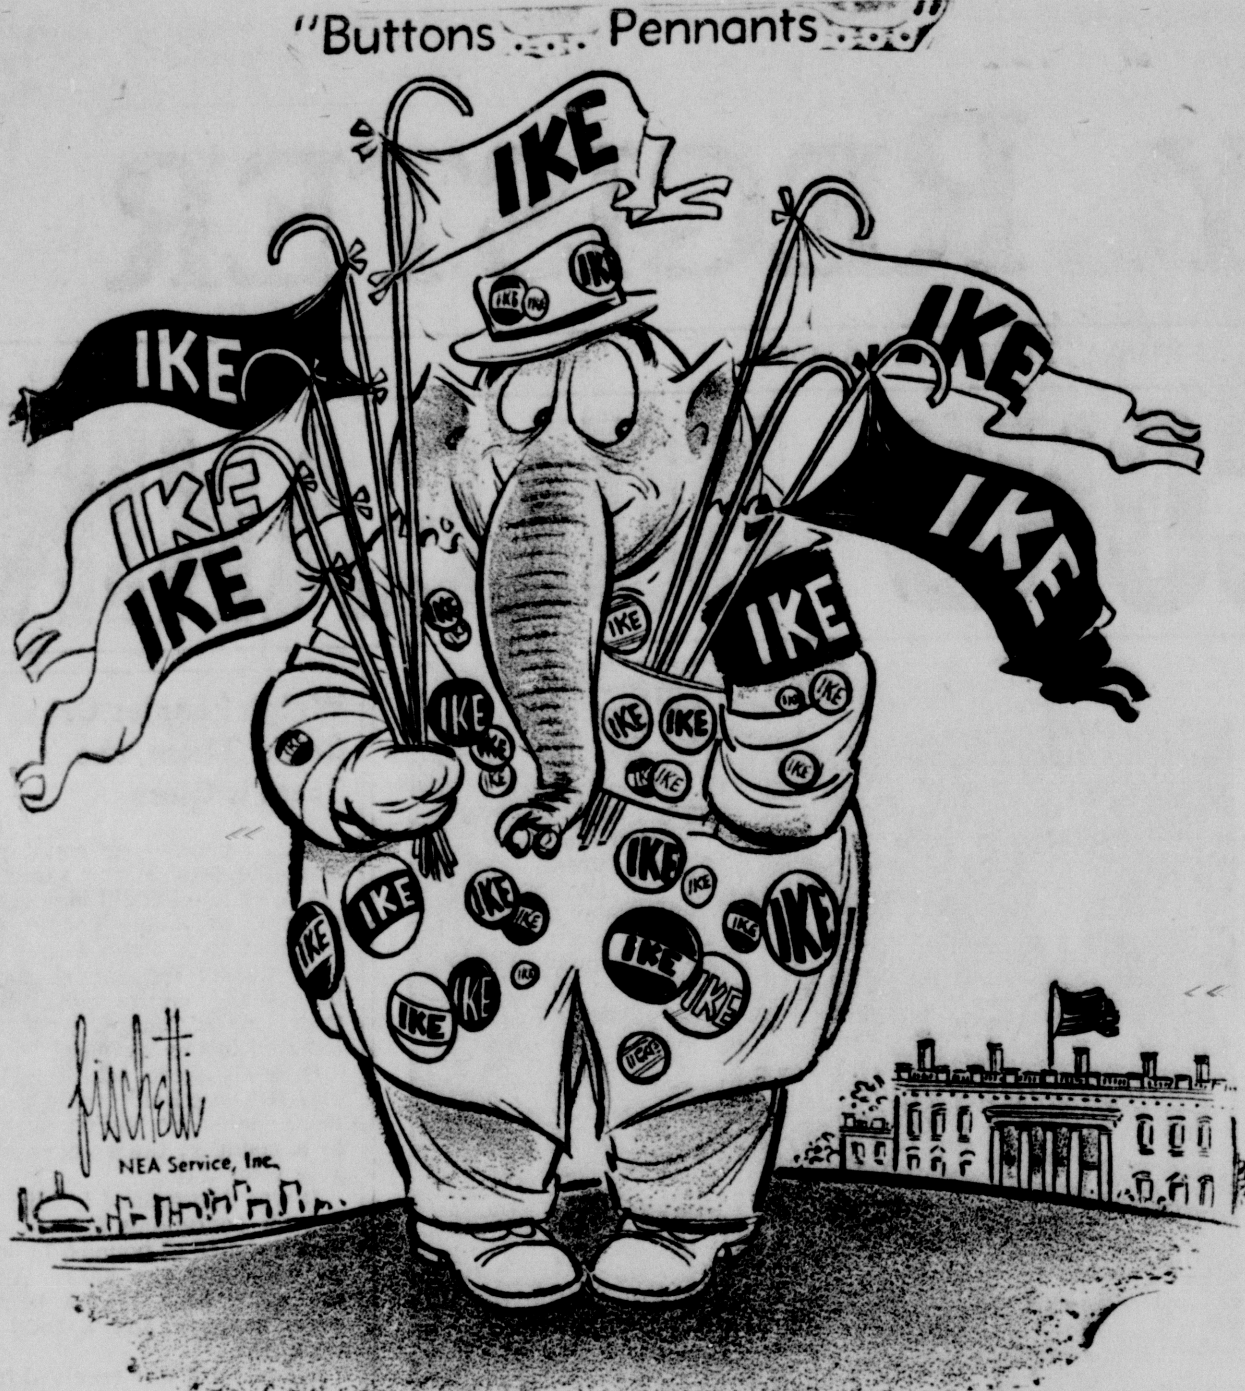

It is true that this is no ordinary peacetime but a kind of half-war in which "normal" considerations do not apply. But it is also true that this nation never has spent so much for defense nor maintained so large an Army, Navy and Air Force in peace as it is presently doing under threat of Communist aggression.

How the available money shall be divided among the various forces is another question, and here again Ridgway takes a firm stand on ground which the impartial judge must declare still open for argument. The general rejects as unsound and actually insincere the contentions of others, including the President, that the enormously increased firepower of modern field weapons justifies relying on smaller sized ground combat units.

All that can be said here is that men as devoted to the nation's military (not budgetary) safety as General Ridgway have opposed his view and agreed that effective armies can be smaller.

It is right and proper that we should hear Ridgway's full voice on these vital issues, now that he is out of the Army and free to speak. But it should be remembered that it represents but one side in the debate. It is just one earnest attempt to lift the curtain and perceive the shape of tomorrow's warfare.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Several Senators Have Conflicts Of Interests; Senator Ellender Of Louisiana Admitted Sugar Lobbyists To Executive Committee Session; Dewey Wants To Nix Nixon.

WASHINGTON. — Here is how low the moral standards of the greatest deliberative body, the United States Senate, have sunk today.

Not only is it highly unlikely that any senator will invoke Rule 12 and refrain from voting on the natural gas bill because he owns gas-oil lands or stock, but another pocketbook-interest bill is due for debate next week—the sugar bill.

Senators from Florida, Indiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, New Hampshire and Arkansas are reported to have financial interests in gas-oil lands or gas-oil companies. But there is no indication to date that they will step aside and refrain from voting their pocketbook interest as provided under Senate Rule 12.

On top of this, the sugar bill, due for debate immediately after the gas bill, already finds one senator in violation of Senate rules. He is Allen Ellender of Louisiana.

Senator Ellender, purchased from the South Downs Sugar company of Louisiana four acres of extremely valuable residential-oil land on the edge of Houma, La., his home town, for only $2,500 an acre, though the company had refused to sell the same land to others at that price. The land faces the U. S. Agricultural Experimental Station and is considered an extremely choice location.

The South Downs Sugar company, which owned the property, is actively engaged in lobbying for the new sugar bill, increasing domestic cane-sugar quotas, and its president, Wallace Kemper, testified before the Senate Agriculture committee of which Ellender is chairman.

Ellender claims that he got the land cheap because he forewent all rights.

INSIDE LOBBYING

Much more important when it comes to judging Senate ethics, however, was Ellender's behavior during testimony on the sugar bill last summer. As chairman of the Senate Agriculture committee, he not only pushed the bill personally but demanded that Congressman Cooley of North Carolina, chairman of the House Agriculture committee, act on the sugar bill or else Ellender in turn would not act on the parity price support bill affecting other farm commodities.

However, here is the real breach of Senate ethics. On August 1, Ellender brought two sugar lobbyists into the highly secret sessions of the Senate Finance committee to discuss the sugar bill. They were: Robert Shields, representing the beet-sugar lobby, and Joe Ferris, representing the cane-sugar lobby.

A secret committee session is not supposed to be open to anyone outside Congress. The public, the press are not admitted, much less the representatives of a special-interest group pushing certain legislation.

Once, in 1925, when Sen. Hiram Bingham of Connecticut admitted a representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association to a secret session of the Senate Finance committee, he was officially censured by vote of the Senate.

However, ethical standards were higher in those days. Senators were more honest, had more courage. Today there is not one senator who dares stand up to move the censure of Ellender of Louisiana though they know about his admission of lobbyists to the executive session of the Senate Finance committee. Nor is there one senator who will stand up and challenge the voting right of Kerr of Oklahoma or Long of Louisiana or others to vote on the natural gas bill because they have investments in gas.

This is the depth to which the prestige of the world's greatest deliberative body has sunk today.

Note—It was Senator George of Georgia who helped lead the censure vote against Senator Bingham of Connecticut in 1925.

HOFFMAN SUBPOENAS

Bucholic Congressman Clare Hoffman of Alegen, Mich., who wears no pockets in his coat and once was voted down by every Republican on his own Government Operations committee, went to Arthur Pearlman, counsel of that committee, last week and demanded: "I want you to subpoena Drew Pearson."

"What for?" asked Pearlman.

"Make him come up here and answer before the House of Representatives as to where he got that information regarding Al Sarena. Make him produce that 'Dear Doug' letter which he says Eisenhower wrote to Secretary McKay. I want a subpoena issued for Pearson at once."

"Then," replied Pearlman, "we would also have to subpoena Secretary McKay."

"Oh no, no, no," replied Congressman Hoffman, promptly dropping the matter.

Note — Hoffman had first demanded that the Senate Interior committee subpoena this writer.

Ike has a secret, self-appointed board of strategy of New York, including some of his closest friends such as Tom Dewey and Gen. Lucius Clay.

They are determined that Vice President Nixon shall not run with him.

They feel that if Ike does run, most people, remembering his statements about his own health, would be voting for vice president. Nixon, they feel, would bog down the ticket, might even defeat it.

U. S. Jury Indicts Former Policy Wheel Partner

CHICAGO (U.P.)—William H. Lewis, reputed partner in a former 10-million-dollar policy wheel racket, was indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on charges of income tax evasion.

The two-count charge accused Lewis of filing false returns for both his partnership and personal income for himself and his wife.

The indictment barely beat the statute of limitations on 1949 cases. Government officials said investigation of Lewis' income in later years is under way.

The policy wheel, which Lewis was reported connected bore such names as "Landlord Lady and Junior Wheel," "Lady and Mr. J.," and "Big Papa, Big Mama and Little Willie."

The wheel was also noted for its unique "incentive system" for policy writers, paying them $1 for each $25 winner they sold and distributing Christmas bonuses.

Two Small American Boys Kneel at Shrine to Ask Deliverance from Leukemia

LOURDES, France (U.P.)—Two little American boys kneel today at the Catholic Shrine of Lourdes to ask deliverance from leukemia, a fatal disease they do not understand.

The boys are 7-year-old Randy Eckman, son of Mrs. Joseph Eckman of St. Joseph, Mich., and Craig Giannamore, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Giannamore of Steubenville, Ohio, who arrived separately to pray for help.

Both are suffering from leukemia, dread cancer of the blood, and doctors have said both will die. Their parents have not told them.

Their parents brought the two boys to this world famed shrine to which hundreds have attributed miracles in the hope that the power of the shrine will somehow touch their children. Craig arrived this morning, Randy arrived Thursday.

Randy already has made one visit to the shrine, but was not allowed to leave his car in the bitter cold. His mother feared he was too tired from two hard nights of travel.

Any further illness could bring quick death to the pale, slender child.

Craig will visit the shrine today after he is examined at the hospital here.

The parents of both boys are firm in their faith that God will spare their sons.

Randy's mother says:

"I have no doubts at all that Randy will be healthy after this trip."

Although Lutheran by faith, Mrs. Eckman feels it is perfectly natural for her to be at a Catholic shrine.

"God doesn't see any difference between Lutheran and Catholic children. All children are the same to God," she said.

The Giannamores, ardent Catholics, feel that their faith will help make Craig healthy.

"It has been faith that kept him alive this long," Giannamore said. "About a year and a half ago when this first started the doctors gave him only a few months to live and the faith of all of us has kept him with us."

The pocket gopher can run down its hole backward about as fast as it can headfirst. It uses its sensitive tail as a guide.

Many people, who have never spent a day in a medical university, foolishly believe that they can advise their friends how to treat an illness. They mean well, but can cause serious harm.

The proper diagnosis of a disease is an art that a Physician acquires only after years of study and internship training in a hospital. It is more important to treat the cause of an illness than to just relieve discomfort, which is usually the most any self treatment accomplishes. When you are sick be guided by your Physician.

Police Seek Leads in Slaying Of Girl in Florida

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Investigators ran down dozens of leads today in the slaying of a pretty farm girl called the "lady in red" whose mutilated body was found on a swank residential island.

Manson Hill of the Dade County sheriff's office said there were no suspects, although a number of people have been questioned in the slaying of the 23-year-old woman. "We have 16 investigators working on it, but all we've got right now is lots of leads and angles," Hill said.

The body of dark-haired Ruth L. Downing, clad in a tight-fitting red knit dress, was found Thursday on exclusive Biscaya Island. The island is in surfside at the north end of Miami Beach.

The shapely girl, who had been wanted in an auto theft, had nine deep stab wounds on her body and multiple slashes on her hands, back and head. Surferside Police Chief Andrew Murcia Jr., said she apparently died trying to fight off an assailant, but an autopsy disclosed she had not been raped.

American Judge and Wife Impressed With Billy Graham Service in India

By George Burnham
Chattanooga News-Free Press
Staff Writer

MADRAS, India—The American had borrowed an Indian musical instrument and was trying to tame a cobra. His wife was focusing her camera to get the picture. But the cobra didn't co-operate. He struck at the man. The American didn't run. He reached down quickly and got a strong grip on the cobra's head. The venom may have been removed from the snake's fangs, but it still took courage to grab him.

The wife wasn't quite so brave. She was shaking so badly that focusing a camera was out of the question. Dr. Bob Pierce of Los Angeles, a missionary pioneer in the Far East who was looking on with Billy Graham, stepped up and took the picture.

After the sidewalk incident the man introduced himself to Pierce and Billy. He was Judge Philip B. Gilliam of Denver, Colo. Another bystander, who just happened to be on the scene, was the Rev. Robert Youngdahl of Minneapolis. An American bull session developed.

Judge Gilliam was elected president of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges in 1953. He was elected judge of Denver's famous juvenile court in 1940, and re-elected in 1944, 1948 and 1952, each time with the highest vote ever given any candidate for public office in the city and county of Denver. In these elections he received more votes than Roosevelt, Truman or Eisenhower.

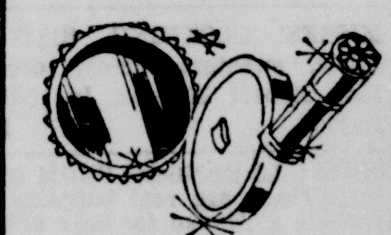

Certainly a representative American, he was in India making addresses as a delegate of the U. S. Information Service. He had heard about Billy Graham but had never heard him speak. During the next two days he sat in on a press conference conducted by the evangelist and then, with his wife, attended a church service. They sat on the front row.

"I had heard a few of America's hellfire and damnation preachers and thought Mr. Graham might be another one," commented Mrs. Gilliam. "But he wasn't like that at all. He explained the fact of sin, the cure for it through faith in Jesus Christ and then gave a common sense appeal for the people to make a decision on whether they would accept Christ or reject Him. There was nothing emotional about it. I was so impressed."

The judge added: "Billy didn't appeal to the emotions, but my wife and I sat there with tears in our eyes. We have been church members for years, but I believe we will be better church members after hearing Billy. I believe that I will be a better judge when I return to Denver. As I sat there listening to this clean-cut young American I couldn't help wishing that every juvenile delinquent who appeared before me in the last 20 years could have heard him. He had the answer to their problems."

"Now that I have heard him and have seen the effect he has on people, I don't think there is a single man in the United States who can do as much for America abroad as Billy Graham."

That's quite a statement, but it

Monty Ray Field Celebrates Birthday
A turkey dinner was enjoyed Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dunn in honor of their nephew, Monty Ray Field's seventh birthday.

18 Enlist in Air Force at Local Office

Eighteen young men enlisted in the Air Force through the Harrisburg recruiting station during January.

Most of these volunteers were from Saline county and all except the re-enlistees were flown to California for their basic military training. M-Sgt. Peter F. Demediuk, local Air Force recruiter, stated:

The following enlisted during the month:

Bobby Lee Yates, RFD 2, Harrisburg; Clarence E. King, RFD 2, Harrisburg; Richard C. Fitts, 102 South Roosevelt; Jimmie Lee Bal, RFD 3, Harrisburg; Frederick R. Peazel, 820 North Jackson; Larry R. Yates, RFD 3, Harrisburg; Donald R. Emmmons, 309 East Church; Glen D. Amberger, 616A West O'Garra; Cleatus E. Killman, 565 West Barnett; Bobby W. Spurlock, 700 West Sloan; James R. Wilson, 512 West Sloan; Kenneth D. Broth, 725 West Parish.

George A. Clayton, RFD 1, Shawneetown; James C. Rodgers, Rosi, 301 E. Main; Ralph G. Hubel, Carmi RFD 1; Franklin D. Gholson, RFD 1, Broughton; Donald J. Veatch, W. Star Route, McLeansboro, and Philip W. Mitchell, RFD 1, Eldorado.

New airmen reporting to Air Force basic training centers will make the change from civilian to Air Force technician more rapidly than heretofore under a new program of combining basic military and technical training according to M-Sgt. Demediuk.

This is the first step in a long-range Air Force plan to devise means of reducing the time needed to train a new airman and make him a productive member of the Air Force team.

M-Sgt. Demediuk said that new airmen found eligible by aptitude, classification tests, and other selective means to attend an Air Force technical school, and for whom spaces are available, will receive only six weeks of basic military training at Parks Air Force Base, California, or Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. They will receive the balance of their basic Air Force training while being prepared for their future Air Force careers.

The recruiter pointed out that this change in the initial training program will place newly-trained technicians on the job five weeks sooner, saving the government money in reduced training time and costs, and improving utilization of Air Force manpower.

The airmen not scheduled for formal technical training will continue through the normal 11-weeks of basic training before being sent to commands for duty and on-the-job-training with duty assignment recommendations.

M-Sgt. Demediuk said that Air Force planners anticipate that in time all incoming airmen will receive the technical training in an Air Force school.

For further information on opportunities in the Air Force can be obtained from M-Sgt. Demediuk who is located in the American Legion building, 20 South Main street, Harrisburg, or phone Harrisburg 1061.

Illinois Will Not Retaliate Against Ohio Axle-Mile Tax

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Illinois is not going to retaliate against Ohio's axle-mile tax on Illinois trucks, state officials indicated today.

The state had considered charging Ohio trucks a full Illinois axle-mile tax.

But William B. Westbrook, chief clerk in the secretary of state's automobile department, said Illinois was going to "stand pat pending possible action by the next session of the Legislature or perhaps some action by the Ohio Legislature."

Westbrook said if Illinois started charging Ohio trucks a full Illinois license fee, Ohio "could turn around and charge license fees on our trucks in addition to the axle-mile tax."

Such a move would only mean more expense to Illinois truckers, he said.

The axle-mile tax cost Illinois truckers about $400,000 over a period of 15 months, Westbrook said. He said Illinois and Ohio are currently operating under their old vehicle license reciprocity agreement under which neither state charges registration fees on the other's vehicles.

"Water Bees"

Honey bees carry water as well as honey. Special carriers bring it to the hive, do it out, seal it in cells, or even act as storage tanks themselves until the water is needed.

The state capital of Texas has more than 400 rooms and 13 acres of floor space.

Woman Awarded Buried Treasure Found by Worker

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—A judge overruled the theory of "finders keepers" Thursday and awarded a $44,525 buried treasure to 67-year-old Mrs. Jane Siskind.

Albert W. Sorenson, an iron worker, had found the money in a tin box as he worked on construction of a gas station last May 7. He took the money to authorities and filed a claim for it.

Mrs. Siskind came forward and claimed the money, saying she and her sister had hoarded it when they lived in a house on the site. Judge Bernard M. Decker upheld her claim Thursday.

Mrs. Siskind's lawyer said Sorenson probably would get a reward, possibly about $1,000.

Fire at Rockford Causes More Than Half Million Damage

ROCKFORD, Ill.—An extra alarm fire destroyed an automobile agency and threatened other businesses in the west edge of the business area here early today.

Six families were forced to evacuate their homes in the 700 block of West State St. while seven of the city's eight fire companies battled the blaze in 11-degree temperature.

Damage was estimated between $500,000 and one million dollars. No one is reported injured.

Moral: Bears Do Not Like to Be Punched

LEWISTON, Mich. (AP)—Alex Galton, 32, has decided to leave bar-baiting to Davy Crockett.

Galton, a Romeo, Mich., insurance salesman, was posting no-hunting signs on his mother's property near here recently when a five-foot black bear ambled up to inspect his work. Galton took a poke at the curious brute.

The bear swung back and knocked Galton down, tearing his jacket and two shirts beneath and slashing his arm. Then the bear sauntered off.

Woman Waits 66 Years To Seek Inheritance

MUSKOGEE, Mich. (AP)—Mrs. L. A. Purchis of Petoskey waited 66 years before asking for her share of a tiny estate left by her grandmother, who died in 1889.

Probate Judge Harry H. Geoghan said he received a letter from Mrs. Purchis, who is now in her 70's, asking for her quarter share of an estate of $286.07 left by Mrs. Lotta Twiss.

Geoghan said he found records showing a guardian was named for the four grandchildren who were heirs to the estate but there was no record of distribution being ordered.

The judge said guardians were appointed in Oceana and Emmet Counties, and he wrote Mrs. Purchis suggesting she check records in the two counties to determine if distribution of the estate ever was made.

Rules Mental Hospital Inmates Cannot Vote

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Inmates of Illinois mental hospitals can't vote.

Atty. Gen. Latham Castle issued the ruling Thursday in an official opinion written for Stephenson County State's Atty. Everett E. Laughlin after an East Moline State Hospital inmate requested an absentee ballot.

Castle said a person adjudged mentally ill loses his right to vote until his civil rights have been restored by the court.

But Castle said a person in need of mental treatment is still eligible to vote if otherwise qualified.

Antonelli is Out to Prove He's No One-Year Wonder

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—(NEA)—John August Antonelli, the tire dealer, sat behind a big desk in the office of his new building, hard by Red Wing Stadium in Rochester's north end, and assured you of one thing.

Johnny Antonelli is not going to be a tired tire dealer when the bell rings and the Giants once more expect him to be their No. 1 pitcher in the spring.

"I haven't been around long enough to make excuses," said the handsome Italiano, "but that's the only way I can account for the nightmare of 1955. There was never anything wrong with my arm. I was in shape and as effective as ever at times.

"Many a ballplayer has been ruined by the rubber chicken circuit and I'm listing myself as an added starter and one who learned his lesson.

"I didn't get much rest after the World Series of 1954. Took a job as a good will man for a Rochester firm. I neither drink nor smoke, but the hours were long. I worked from 9 to 4 and then attended dinners in nearby towns, which due to driving time kept me up until 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning. I kept this up until well into February. Fellows who do not have to play ball will tell you that this can be tough."

AS ANTONELLI DROPPED from a pennant-winning 21 and 7 and an earned-run average of 2.29 in '54 to 14 and 16 and 3.33 last season, fear was expressed that he might have been a one-year wonder. There have been numerous pitchers of this type, Gene Bearden of the '48 Indians being a more striking example.

Antonelli laughs at this, as a young man who collected $50,000 for signing as an 18-year-old should.

"As I said, I'm not precisely a Methuselah in this business," explained Johnny, who will be all of 26 when the new season starts, "but I've been in it long enough to know I can pitch.

"There's no reason in the world why I can't win 20 games for the Giants. All I need is a few breaks that I got in '54 and did not get in '55. These even up, so I have some coming next season. Any pitcher will tell you that he needs a little luck with a few runs to be a big winner. To illustrate, last season I had an earned-run average of 1.50 while losing eight of the first 12. They weren't hitting me any harder while I was winning six of the first seven the year before."

SOUTHPAW ANTONELLI discounts the left-hand pitching-right-hand batting and vice versa theory.

"I frequently do better against right-hand batters than left," he said. "Perhaps it is because I work harder against them. Off-hand, I would say that in the World Series, Whitey Ford and Tommy Byrne were sorely handicapped when sent against a batting order loaded with right-hand batters. On the Dodgers' side, Johnny Podres most certainly didn't lose any ground for left-hand pitchers.

"On the other side of the fence, I remember when Ted Kluszevski didn't particularly like left-hand pitching, but now he takes the same generous cuts against left-handers that he does against right-handers.

"When a good pitcher is right, no club is going to give him too much trouble, whether he is right or left-handed."

That's why Antonelli is working out at the Rochester "Y" and going to bed early at night.

As he says, Johnny Antonelli isn't going to be a tired tire dealer in the spring.

Billikins Come From Behind to Defeat Wichita

By United Press

St. Louis had to share the Missouri Valley Conference basketball championship last year, and didn't get into the NCAA tournament — but this year the Billikins are out to run away with both the title and the tourney berth.

The Bills stretched their perfect record in league play to 5-0 Thursday night by rallying from a 13-point deficit to beat Wichita, 90-88.

That kept St. Louis several jumps ahead of second-place Oklahoma A & M, which has a 2-1 mark. Last year the Bills tied with Tulsa for the loop crown and league officials picked Tulsa for the NCAA bid. St. Louis went to the National Invitation Tournament.

Louisville Dumps Toledo
Louisville, ranked sixth nationally, had much less trouble romping to a 93-64 victory over Toledo. It was the Cardinals' 17th victory in 18 games and their ninth straight.

Cincinnati, which completed in the National Invitation last year, greatly enhanced its chances of a return engagement next month by beating St. John's, 93-78, at Madison Square Garden to make its record 13-3.

In other leading games: Wake Forest trounced Virginia, 84-67, to take third place in the Atlantic Coast Conference; Manhattan took an 82-70 victory over NYU; Marty Burdette sank a long set shot at the final buzzer to give Miami, Fla., a 77-75 victory over Xavier, Ohio; and the Quantico Marines trounced Iona College, 95-78.

Halt Pumping of Water Into Reservoirs

Pumping of water from Middle Fork creek into the standby reservoirs north of the city ceased at 10:45 last night because bad water started coming down the stream, Amos Doom, water and sewer department superintendent, announced today.

Doom said there was nine and a half feet of water in the creek, ample for full pumping, when operations ceased, but tests showed too much acid content for pumping into the reservoir.

Tests of the water are made periodically during times of pumping.

Ohio State Favored Over Indiana Saturday; Purdue Wisconsin Expected to Win

CHICAGO — Three Big Ten basketball games were scheduled Saturday, but there'll be no change in the one-two race between league-leading Illinois and runner-up and defending champion Iowa.

The Illini, victors in 12 of 13 games and unbeaten in conference play with five straight wins, get a night off, while Iowa, idle since Jan. 23 due to semester examinations, returns to the floor at home against a non-conference opponent, Wichita from the Missouri Valley Conference.

The afternoon television game again features Bob Freeman and Ohio State, this time against Indiana and lanky Archie Dees. The Buckeyes, tied with Michigan and Michigan State for fifth place in the conference with three wins in six games, were seven-point favorites over the fourth-place Hoosiers, who have won three of five starts.

Purdue Favored Over Gophers
Night games involve third-place Purdue, with a five and three record, at home as the six-point favorite over Minnesota.

Nats Defeat Royals, 97-89; Hawks Win, 98-90

By United Press

The Syracuse Nationals, defending champions in the National Basketball Assn., were ready to launch a drive for a playoff berth today now that team Captain Paul Seymour is back in harness.

Fully recovered from a broken wrist suffered early last month, Seymour came off the bench Thursday night to spark the Nationals to a comeback 97-89 victory over the Rochester Royals.

It was the Nats' first victory in their last four games and moved them to within three games of the third-place New York Knickerbockers, who dropped an 88-87 verdict to the Philadelphia Warriors on the same bill at Syracuse.

In another twin-bill at St. Louis, the Hawks climbed out of the Western Division cellar by surprising the Fort Wayne Pistons, 98-90, while the Boston Celtics edged the Minneapolis Lakers, 102-101. Bill Sharman scored 35 points and Ed Macauley had 31 for the Celtics.

THE STORY: James Bennett, investigator for the State Industrial Welfare Commission, is trying to obtain permission for an autopsy on Frank Osborn, who died six months before. He is trying to get in touch with Dr. Dick Jarrett, the physician who attended Osborn, and also coroner.

IV

The girl's eyes held a faintly defiant light. "Good evening, Miss," I said. "I'm sorry to intrude." I said to the man, "Dr. Jarrett?" He nodded, his expression puzzled. I took a card from my wallet and laid it on the table. He glanced at it. "Bennett," he said, "from the Industrial Welfare Commission. Can't you see me at my office?" "Yes," I said, "but I'd like to complete my business tonight." Dr. Jarrett hesitated, his clipped fingernails drumming the table. Then he sighed. "Very well, but make it brief." He slid out of the booth and stood up. "Excuse me a moment, Lucy." He walked back to the bar. I followed him.

"Drink?" I asked him. "I have a drink," he said shortly, nodding at the booth. The bartender looked at me inquiringly. "Bourbon and water," I said. I heard Dr. Jarrett sigh impatiently. I said to him, "It's about a man named Frank Osborn."

He stopped drumming, regarded me steadily, and then said in an even voice, "I remember Frank's case very well. It's closed." "Not any more," I said. "The Commission has sent me the file and asked me to look into it again. He was on total disability for silicosis, of industrial origin. You diagnosed his death as due to coronary occlusion. It doesn't jibe. Lungs and heart. When we know for certain which caused death, then the case will be closed." The bartender slid a glass across the bar and I took a small drink.

Dr. Jarrett touched a finger to his thin lips. "But why wait so long?"

I smiled. "The bureaucratic cogs of the Commission turn slowly."

"What do you propose to do now?"

"You should know, Doctor. Autopsy."

"After six months?"

I nodded. "I hope the widow will give her consent."

"And if she doesn't?"

I shrugged. "Then I will request the county coroner to issue an official order."

"I'm the coroner of this county," he said.

"I know. And you were also the attending physician. You signed the death certificate."

"Coronary," he said stubbornly.

"I'll stand on that. I treated Frank from the beginning. In addition to the silicosis he had this heart condition, a serious one. The silicosis had been arrested. X-rays taken shortly before his death proved that. Then—" He snapped his fingers—"he went just like that. Coronary."

"Maybe the lung ailment helped to bring it on?"

"No," he said bluntly. "Silicosis is a slow death. And, bear in mind, he had this heart history."

I said, "The state was prepared to accept silicosis as the cause of death, without question. The widow would have received $10,000."

"I know that," he snapped, "but there is something called professional ethics."

"Yes, Doctor," I said, a trifle wearily. "I've encountered it many times. And I admire your profession and respect it. I admire you especially, because you were not swayed by the obvious, even though you knew that death by silicosis would result in cash for the widow."

"Thank you."

"You're welcome, Doctor. Could you give me some details? Were you with Mr. Osborn when he died?"

"Yes. I was at his home, along with some other people."

"I see," I said. "Were the Osborns having a sort of party?"

"Just a small gathering. A few of us had been to an affair at the school, and Mrs. Osborn had previously invited us to have sandwiches afterward."

"Did Mr. Osborn go to the school with you?"

"Yes. He'd been rather confined, and as his physician I thought the outing would be good for him."

"You've been very helpful."

"Take my word, Mr. Bennett—Frank's heart killed him."

"It kills us all," I said, "in one way or another. What persons were at this gathering at the Osborns?"

He flushed angrily. "Names of all witnesses are on the death certificate. Is that all?"

"One thing more."

He paused and turned. "Yes?"

"If Mrs. Osborn refuses to consent to the autopsy, will you cooperate with the state by ordering it performed?"

He was a full foot shorter than I was, and he had to tilt his head a little to look me in the eyes. "Certainly not," he said coldly. "An autopsy is needless. I have given you my professional statement, orally and in writing, as to the cause of Frank Osborn's death. I see no reason why it should be questioned."

"The Commission can exert some pressure," I murmured.

"You fellows on the public payroll meddle around in some silly business like this, and let deserving cases rot in the files—no wonder the state taxes are so high!"

He was trembling a little.

I gazed at him curiously, and then I said, "Relax, Doctor. Maybe Mrs. Osborn will consent to the autopsy."

Inflationary Trend Halted, Humphrey Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey said today there has been "no significant loss in the buying power of the dollar" during the three years of the Eisenhower administration.

Furthermore, he said, the administration has halted a 14-year inflationary trend that saw the value of the dollar decline from 100 cents in 1939 to 52 cents in 1952.

Humphrey's statements were made to the joint congressional committee which is studying President Eisenhower's recent report to Congress on the state of the nation's economy.

Committee Chairman Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) was expected to question Humphrey closely about the President's estimates on the nation's personal income for this year.

In an earlier hearing Douglas contended that the estimate that personal income in 1956 would rise about 10 billion dollars to 312½ billion assumed "no growth in the economy at all and even some decline." He also said that if this forecast were borne out "nearly five million" persons will be out of work.

But Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes, before the committee at the time, denied the forecasts were gloomy. He said the estimates which foresee no change in the level of corporate profits—43 billion dollars—must be conservative.

GM Achieves All-Time Highs

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—General Motors achieved all time highs in dollar sales, earnings, employment, and payrolls in 1955, President Harlow H. Curtice announced today.

General Motors sales last year totaled nearly 12½ billion dollars, net income passed the 1-billion-dollar mark for the first time, and payrolls were over 3 billion, Curtice said.

Three Charged with Violating Cigaret Sales Report Laws

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Three Missouri men today faced prosecution on 10-count informations charging them with violations of federal cigarette sales report laws.

U. S. Atty. John B. Stoddard Jr. filed the information late Thursday against Joseph Rosenberger and Philip Schuenhoff, both of St. Louis, and Otis Leroy West, Overland, Mo.

Stoddard said the three have been engaged in sale of cigarettes in Illinois from St. Louis for some years, operating under the names of Nation-wide Service, Interstate Service and Interstate Purchasing Corp.

The Illinois sales, mostly in Chicago, without provision of sales information to Illinois officials, resulted in the purchasers avoiding state cigarette taxes, Stoddard said.
